授業の目的・概要 Objectives and Outline of the Course
日
英	This course develops communicative competence for Design and Architecture students through collection research, giving presentations, and engaging in discussions. The course prioritizes critical thinking and collaborative problem-solving in English, drawing on global and design-related issues. The course has a core of three components that cycle 3 times during the semester: Firstly, students expand on their knowledge about a global and/or design-related topic by collecting and interpreting research. Secondly, students plan and deliver a presentation about the topic to the class. Finally, students integrate their knowledge about the topic and their communicative skills by doing guided discussions and collaborative activities related to the topic.
